Never Too late for Love and Purpose

Imagine gathering a few friends—not simply for dinner or conversation as usual, but for an experience that invites everyone to rediscover love, laughter, possibility, and meaningful connection.

Through Trish and Mark's heartfelt conversations, shared experiences, and faith-based inspiration, they help individuals, couples and groups rediscover love, deepen connections, and embrace life's possibilities. This isn't simply a conversation you'll listen to. It's a conversation you'll become part of.

Meet Trish & Mark

At 74, Trish and Mark are living proof of the message they share: a beautiful next chapter can begin at any age. Their warmth, candor, and personal stories invite others to reflect on their own lives and relationships.

The Conversation

What keeps love alive? How do we grow together rather than apart? Can we find new purpose, happiness, and adventure in the second half of life? These are the questions Trish and Mark explore together—not as lecturers, but as a couple sharing their hearts.

Invite people you care about

Consider hosting a small gathering of couples, friends, or people beginning a new chapter. The conversation can be shaped around your group, with room for reflection, meaningful dialogue, and renewed connection.

A gathering with Trish and Mark

We would love to meet you, hear about what you have in mind, and explore what an intimate gathering might look like. It's a time to inspire, heal, create and connect. Never to late for Love, the greatest gift of all!

Sometimes the greatest gift we give our friends is a new possibility.
